(Baltimore, 1922), a fuller account of the actions of the Washington Conference which affected China; Report of Commission on Extraterritoriality in China (Washington, 1926), the official findings of the international commission promised at the Washington Conference; H. K. Norton, China and the Powers (New York, 1927), excellent; V. A. Yakhontoff, Russia and the Soviet Union in the Far East (New York, 1931), a history of the international situation in the Far East with a bias in favor of Soviet Russia; Louis Fischer, The Soviets in World Affairs. A History of Relations between the Soviet Union and the Rest of the World (New York, 1930), informed and moderately favorable to Russia; Wong Ching-wai, China and the Nations (New York, 1927), setting forth the foreign policies of the radicals of the Kuomintang; T. F. Millard, The End of Extraterritoriality in China (Shanghai, 1931), siding with the Chinese and valuable for its many documents and appendices; Problems of the Pacific (Chicago, 1928, 1930,^ 1932), three volumes comprising the papers and discussions of the biennial meetings of the Institute of Pacific Relations, one at Honolulu in 1927, another at Kyoto in 1929, and a third in Shanghai in 1931, and all containing important material on China's foreign affairs. Some phases of American policy are discussed in a monograph prepared for the Institute of Pacific Relations, P. G. Wright, The American Tariff and Oriental Trade (Chicago, 1931). Lionel Curtis, The Capital Question of China (London, 1932) offers a program by which he believes Western powers can help China. Robert T. Pollard, China's Foreign Relations 1917-1931 (New York, 1933) is a carefully written survey of these interesting years. See also the important book, A. W. Griswold, The Far Eastern Policy of the United States (New York, 1938), H. L. Stimson, The Far Eastern Crisis (New York, 1936), P. H. Clyde, *United States Policy Toward China.
